

Could You Overhaul Your Car Without Fixing the Engine?

Passing retirement reform without including much-needed Social Security reform is like overhauling a car without fixing the engine.

Nine out of 10 Americans know that Social Security is in trouble.* There's no question that Social Security is headed down a path of fiscal instability, putting at risk the retirement security of future generations – and the economic security of our nation.

The more than 530 member organizations of the Coalition for the Modernization and Protection of America's Social Security (CoMPASS) — representing seniors, students, business and advocacy groups — urge Congress to include Social Security reform in the retirement security bill.

Source: June 2005 poll by The New York Times*

Real Retirement Security Requires Fixing Social Security

